

HOUSE BILL NO. 552

INTRODUCED BY J. REAVIS, M. LEE, P. STRAND, B. CLOSE, C. NEUMANN, E. TILLEMANN, S. DEMAROIS

A BILL FOR AN ACT ENTITLED: "AN ACT GENERALLY REVISING WORKERS' COMPENSATION LAWS TO PROVIDE INSURANCE COVERAGE FOR POSTTRAUMATIC STRESS DISORDER FOR CERTAIN WORKERS; APPLYING COVERAGE TO FIRST RESPONDERS, INCLUDING FIREFIGHTERS, LAW ENFORCEMENT OFFICERS, EMPLOYEES OF A COUNTY DETENTION CENTER OR PRISON, AND OTHER AUTHORIZED PERSONS WHO RESPOND TO AN EMERGENCY IN A PROFESSIONAL CAPACITY; AMENDING SECTIONS 39-71-105, 39-71-116, AND 39-71-119, MCA; AND PROVIDING AN EFFECTIVE DATE AND AN APPLICABILITY DATE."

BE IT ENACTED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF MONTANA:

NEW SECTION. Section 1. Coverage for posttraumatic stress disorder. (1) A first responder may have a compensable claim under Montana's workers' compensation and occupational disease laws relating to posttraumatic stress disorder as provided in this section.

(2) The first responder must be diagnosed with posttraumatic stress disorder, according to the most recent edition in publication as of July 1, 2025, of the Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders published by the American psychiatric association at the time of the diagnosis. The diagnosis for posttraumatic stress disorder must find that the injury or occupational disease is caused by an event or events that arise out of the course and scope of employment of the first responder but not a personnel-related action, including but not limited to disciplinary action, changes in duty, job evaluation, or employment termination.

(3) A claim for posttraumatic stress disorder is subject to the provisions of Title 39, chapter 71, unless the context requires otherwise.

(4) For the purposes of this section, the term "first responder" means a professional or volunteer firefighter, law enforcement officer, dispatcher, employee of a county detention center or prison, or any other authorized person who responds to an emergency in a professional capacity.

Section 2. Section 39-71-105, MCA, is amended to read:

"39-71-105. (Temporary) Declaration of public policy. For the purposes of interpreting and applying this chapter, the following is the public policy of this state:

(1) An objective of the Montana workers' compensation system is to provide, without regard to fault, wage-loss and medical benefits to a worker suffering from a work-related injury or disease. Wage-loss benefits are not intended to make an injured worker whole but are intended to provide assistance to a worker at a reasonable cost to the employer. Within that limitation, the wage-loss benefit should bear a reasonable relationship to actual wages lost as a result of a work-related injury or disease.

(2) It is the intent of the legislature to assert that a conclusive presumption exists that recognizes that a holder of a current, valid independent contractor exemption certificate issued by the department is an independent contractor if the person is working under the independent contractor exemption certificate. The holder of an independent contractor exemption certificate waives the rights, benefits, and obligations of this chapter unless the person has elected to be bound personally and individually by the provisions of compensation plan No. 1, 2, or 3.

(3) A worker's removal from the workforce because of a work-related injury or disease has a negative impact on the worker, the worker's family, the employer, and the general public. Therefore, an objective of the workers' compensation system is to return a worker to work as soon as possible after the worker has suffered a work-related injury or disease.

(4) Montana's workers' compensation and occupational disease insurance systems are intended to be primarily self-administering. Claimants should be able to speedily obtain benefits, and employers should be able to provide coverage at reasonably constant rates. To meet these objectives, the system must be designed to minimize reliance upon lawyers and the courts to obtain benefits and interpret liabilities.

(5) This chapter must be construed according to its terms and not liberally in favor of any party.

(6) It is the intent of the legislature that:

(a) except as provided in [section 1], a stress claim, often referred to as a "mental-mental claim" or a "mental-physical claim", is not compensable under Montana's workers' compensation and occupational disease laws. The legislature recognizes that these claims are difficult to objectively verify and that the claims have a potential to place an economic burden on the workers' compensation and occupational disease system.

1 The legislature also recognizes that there are other states that do not provide compensation for various
2 categories of stress claims and that stress claims have presented economic problems for certain other
3 jurisdictions. In addition, not all injuries are compensable under the present system, and it is within the 4 legislature's authority to define the limits of the workers' compensation and occupational disease system.
5 However, it is also within the legislature's authority to recognize the public service provided by firefighters and
6 to join with other states that have extended a presumptive occupational disease recognition to firefighters.

7 (b) for occupational disease or presumptive occupational disease claims, because of the nature of
8 exposure, workers should not be required to provide notice to employers of the disease as required of injuries
9 and that the requirements for filing of claims reflect consideration of when the worker knew or should have
10 known that the worker's condition resulted from an occupational disease or a presumptive occupational 11 disease. The legislature recognizes that occupational diseases in the workplace are caused by events
12 occurring on more than a single day or work shift and that the legislature has the authority to define an 13 occupational disease or a presumptive occupational disease and establish the causal connection to the 14 workplace. (Void on occurrence of contingency--sec. 7, Ch. 158, L. 2019.)

15 39-71-105. (Effective on occurrence of contingency) Declaration of public policy. For the 16 purposes of interpreting and applying this chapter, the following is the public policy of this state:

17 (1) An objective of the Montana workers' compensation system is to provide, without regard to 18 fault, wage-loss and medical benefits to a worker suffering from a work-related injury or disease. Wage-loss
19 benefits are not intended to make an injured worker whole but are intended to provide assistance to a worker at 20 a reasonable cost to the employer. Within that limitation, the wage-loss benefit should bear a reasonable 21 relationship to actual wages lost as a result of a work-related injury or disease.

22 (2) It is the intent of the legislature to assert that a conclusive presumption exists that recognizes
23 that a holder of a current, valid independent contractor exemption certificate issued by the department is an
24 independent contractor if the person is working under the independent contractor exemption certificate. The 25 holder of an independent contractor exemption certificate waives the rights, benefits, and obligations of this 26 chapter unless the person has elected to be bound personally and individually by the provisions of 27 compensation plan No. 1, 2, or 3.

28 (3) A worker's removal from the workforce because of a work-related injury or disease has a negative impact on the worker, the worker's family, the employer, and the general public. Therefore, an objective of the workers' compensation system is to return a worker to work as soon as possible after the worker has suffered a work-related injury or disease.

(4) Montana's workers' compensation and occupational disease insurance systems are intended to be primarily self-administering. Claimants should be able to speedily obtain benefits, and employers should be able to provide coverage at reasonably constant rates. To meet these objectives, the system must be designed to minimize reliance upon lawyers and the courts to obtain benefits and interpret liabilities.

(5) This chapter must be construed according to its terms and not liberally in favor of any party.

(6) It is the intent of the legislature that:

(a) except as provided in [section 1], stress claims, often referred to as "mental-mental claims" and "mental-physical claims", are not compensable under Montana's workers' compensation and occupational disease laws. The legislature recognizes that these claims are difficult to objectively verify and that the claims have a potential to place an economic burden on the workers' compensation and occupational disease system. The legislature also recognizes that there are other states that do not provide compensation for various categories of stress claims and that stress claims have presented economic problems for certain other jurisdictions. In addition, not all injuries are compensable under the present system, and it is within the legislature's authority to define the limits of the workers' compensation and occupational disease system.

(b) for occupational disease claims, because of the nature of exposure, workers should not be required to provide notice to employers of the disease as required of injuries and that the requirements for filing of claims reflect consideration of when the worker knew or should have known that the worker's condition resulted from an occupational disease. The legislature recognizes that occupational diseases in the workplace are caused by events occurring on more than a single day or work shift and that it is within the legislature's authority to define an occupational disease and establish the causal connection to the workplace."
